

Win 50,000 advertising impressions weekly with BusinessDay and Financial Mail

Wednesday, 06 May 2009

Search for:

site

archives

Advanced Search

- Home
- News
 - Front Page
 - Economy & Business
 - National
 - World
 - Companies
 - Markets
 - Mining
 - Sport
 - netAssets
- Opinion & Analysis
 - Comment & Analysis
 - The Bottom Line
 - Management & Leadership
- Summit TV
 - Transcripts
- Special Reports
 - Budget 2009
- Arts & Leisure
 - The Tourist
- The Weekender
- Specialist Sections
 - Management Review
 - Health News
 - SA Exporter
 - Real Business
 - Motor News
 - Homefront
 - Property
 - Auctions
- Site Tools
 - Search
 - Contact Us

>--DATELINE-HERE--<

Creating housing assets

THE government — through the Department of Housing — intends to expand its role in the delivery of houses to the entire residential market.

According to the chief of operations of the housing department, Joseph Leshabane, there is a visible shift from merely building houses to creating housing assets and the development of sustainable human settlements.

Communities have access to integrated settlements providing access to economic facilities and opportunities, transport, recreation, education and other community facilities. He says for the past five years, people earning between R3501 and R7000 a month have been benefiting from the government's housing subsidy, as part of a partnership arrangement with the financial sector.

The government programme, called credit-linked subsidy, is helping beneficiaries to access housing credit for the purchase of existing houses and/or to acquire a serviced stand linked to a house-building contract. "It is envisaged that this programme will contribute to the development of a vibrant residential property market and enhance the linkages between the primary and secondary residential property market," Leshabane emphasises.

"The subsidy amounts are based on a household's monthly income on a basis of higher subsidies for the lower income categories. The government housing grants serve as a capital down payment, so rendering bond repayments more affordable."

The government is also actively supporting programmes to develop townships and has increased the subsidy amounts in order to build bigger, better houses that can be integrated in the housing market.

"We recently launched the Housing Development Agency, which will help provinces and municipalities acquire land and prepare it for implementation of integrated human settlements," Leshabane says.

Learn new skills and tower above the rest

VIRTUAL BOOKS
Multimedia training CDs

Currently available:
*Marketing in SA Cases & Concepts

- * Business Finance Fundamentals
- *Human Resources Management
- *Simply Successful Selling
- *Introduction to Company Law
- *Risk Management and Treasury Operations
- *How Business Strategy Works in Practice
- *Professional Communication

Enrol today and receive a subscription to Financial Mail or Business Day

Click here to order

Want to read more?
CLICK HERE

BusinessDay FINANCIAL MAIL
Executive Education Series
CLICK HERE FOR MORE INFORMATION

- Subscribe
- Newsletters
- Advertise
- BDFM BEE Credentials
- Surveys
- Online Courses

SUBSCRIBE TO BUSINESSDAY
NOW BY CLICKING HERE.

ONLINE COURSES

Business Media
in Education Initiative

Click here
to learn more!

BDFM
The Business Media Company

Sponsored links

KLM Travel

JAWITZ Residential
Property

Business Directory

Business
Etiquette
For people on the
FAST TRACK
1-DAY EXECUTIVE SEMINAR

BDFM Publishers (Pty) Ltd disclaims all liability for any loss, damage, injury or expense however caused, arising from the use of or reliance upon, in any manner, the information provided through this service and does not warrant the truth, accuracy or completeness of the information provided.

Copyright © 2005 BDFM Publishers (Pty) Ltd. All Rights Reserved
Site Feedback | Privacy Policy

BDFM
The Business Media Company

opa
MEMBER OF THE ONLINE
PUBLISHERS ASSOCIATION